

A voice for Vermont's long-term economic health through sustained leadership and a commitment to research and education that supports economic success.

OUR MISSION QUESTION

How can we use data to support the evolution of Vermont's economy towards a thriving future full of opportunity for all? Our relentless pursuit for answers to this mission question drives our work. It guides research, education initiatives and formation of impactful partnerships.

OUR PRIORITY

We will create a unified statewide economic plan.

BUILDING UPON A PROMISING FOUNDATION

The Vermont Futures Project has developed a robust dashboard of 100+ metrics that track Vermont's economic health. While compiling the data, there have been several research initiatives to explore topics such as workforce, housing, taxation, and young professional cost of living.

Dispelling the zero-sum myth - A thriving future is one where economic development, environmental sustainability, and social justice intersect. Too often, these perspectives are pitted against each other. The Vermont Futures Project uses data to bring people from different perspectives together for productive discourse aligned towards common goals and values.

Telling the economic stories of Vermont -

Everyone has an economic story. What is yours? Our conversations humanize the economy by sharing insights that initiate even more engagement and dialogue. The Vermont Futures Project fosters curiosity through data, economic storytelling, and compelling questions that open the economic conversation in fresh ways.

CREATING A VISION FOR THE FUTURE

Across Vermont we are building alliances and developing a constituency for a robust Vermont economy. To capitalize on the foundation we've built, we will be leading the development of a unified and durable statewide economic plan. We will take a data-driven and collaborative approach to produce a set of quantifiable goals that will inform policy and strategy on a state and local level.
